French Artillary Invention. Colonel Deport, the well known June 3-10-17. French expert, has just invented an improvement in the three inch field gun that will enable the battery to be worked by five men instead of six. This will free 2.400 men in the French army, enough to serve twenty-four new batteries. The colonel's system consists in employing the recoil to open the breechblock, which then shuts automatically on the cartridge being introduced. There is also an ingenious contrivance for obviating the necessity of lowering the gun, and the total weight is reduced by six hundred-weight for the gun and almost as much for the ammunition wagon, which thus makes the new model expecially fit for the ammunition wagon, which thus makes the new model expecially fit for the ammunition wagon, which thus makes the new model expecially fit for the ammunition wagon, which thus makes the new model expecially fit they are tached to independent cavalry divisions.
